

Is it considered improper etiquette to use only a fork and leave your knife unused?

It is considered improper to cut meat with anything other than a knife. If the food is soft and does not require cutting, then it is acceptable to eat only with a fork.